UNESCO Institute for Statistics

The UNESCO Institute for Statistics (UIS) is the statistical office of UNESCO and the United Nations depository for global statistics in the fields of education, science and technology, culture, and communication.

Based in Montreal, the UIS was established in 1999 with the mandate to develop and deliver timely, accurate and policy-relevant data needed in today’s increasingly complex and changing social, political and economic environments. It serves Member States, UNESCO and the UN system, as well as intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations, research institutes, universities and citizens around the world.

As an autonomous organization, the UIS has its own Governing Board that consists of 12 experts, representing users and producers of statistics from different regions and international organizations. The Board reviews and approves the UIS programme and budget, while monitoring, evaluating and advising on the Institute’s operations.
